

Our Values

At Sydney Multicultural Community Services we follow the enablement principles of care according to which:

Individuals and their carers always have the potential to improve their personal wellbeing.

Gains are not difficult to achieve provided the individuals are willing to explore their potential and people around them are supportive.

Community support is based upon individuals' needs and not on what is available.

Staff at SMCS constantly thrives to apply client centred care based upon every individual's needs, desires and degree of willingness to implement a plan in order to achieve what he or she wants to. All this is done with cultural expertise thanks to our multicultural staff coming from five continents, speaking more than ten languages.

Where we work

We work with communities and individuals in Sydney's Inner West, Eastern Suburbs and South-East. If you're in this area too, we'd love to hear from you.
